45 Which cause-and-effect pair is NOT correct?

The mother forgets the brake → the pram rolls
The worker is stranded → a rope is needed

Floppy becomes famous → people recognize him
Floppy wins Dog of the Year → the magic key glows

Inference & Theme

인물 의도 · 주제 · 아이러니 추론

46 What can we infer about Floppy's personality from the training scenes?

He loves being the center of attention

He prefers calm situations to constant performance

He wants to beat Pepper

He enjoys loud cheering

47 Which statement best describes the contrast between the children and Floppy?

The children dislike dogs, but Floppy likes them

The children value tricks and competition, while Floppy values peace and acts when help is needed

The children want to travel, while Floppy wants school

The children are afraid of the city, while Floppy is not

48 Why is Floppy's heroism different from the dogs on the TV show?

He wears better clothes

His actions solve real problems rather than display tricks

He runs faster in a race

He is younger

49 What does Floppy's reaction to praise suggest?

He becomes proud and demands rewards

He helps without needing attention

He wants a television show

He only helps people he knows

50 Why is the title "Superdog" partly ironic?

Floppy cannot run

People see a superhero, but Floppy mainly wants to be an ordinary dog left in peace

He is actually a cat

The city does not know him

51 What does the story suggest about real ability?

Only trained tricks matter

True ability may appear naturally when a real need arises

Only famous dogs are brave

Quiet animals cannot help others

52 What can we infer about the children at the end?

They know every detail of Floppy's adventure

They still do not understand what Floppy has done

They no longer like dogs

They decide to stop all games forever

53 Why does the story include several different rescue scenes?

To repeat the same vocabulary only

To show that Floppy's courage works in many kinds of problems

To prove the city is unsafe in every way

To make the children appear in the city

54 What does Floppy's final wish for peace reveal?

Fame has changed him completely

His basic personality has not changed despite the adventure

He wants to live in the city

He regrets every rescue

55 Which theme is BEST supported by the story?

Winning competitions is the only way to prove talent

Real character is shown by what you do when someone needs help

Fame always makes life better

Rules are unnecessary

56 What does the newspaper mainly change for Floppy?

His physical strength

How strangers treat and recognize him

His opinion of the children

His ability to use the magic key

57 Why is the scene with the mean dogs important beyond the immediate problem?

It shows Floppy can use reputation as well as physical action

It introduces the children to the city

It proves Fang is the true hero

It explains the magic key

58 Which description best fits Floppy's motivation in most rescues?

He wants a prize

He wants to impress the children

He responds because someone is in danger or needs help

He follows newspaper instructions

59 Why does the author place the building rescue near the end of the city adventure?

It is a larger, riskier test that climaxes Floppy's hero role

It has no connection to the theme

It is the easiest event

It introduces the TV show

60 What is the effect of Biff calling Floppy a "bad dog" after he returns?

It creates humor and dramatic irony because readers know he has been heroic

It explains why the city dislikes him

It proves Floppy was not helpful

It causes the newspaper story

61 Which statement would Floppy most likely agree with at the end?

I want everyone to watch me perform

I should train harder to win a trophy

I prefer being myself to being famous

The city is the only place for me

62 What does the story imply about labels such as "hero" or "bad dog"?

Labels always tell the whole truth

Only adults can use labels correctly

Labels can change depending on what people know about a situation

Animals understand labels better than people

63 Which moment best shows dramatic irony?

Floppy sees tall buildings

Biff scolds him after readers have seen him save several people

The thief runs away

The crowd watches a ship

64 What is the most reasonable lesson from Floppy's experience with fame?

Being famous means everyone understands you

Public praise does not necessarily match what a person wants

Fame prevents all future problems

Fame is always dangerous

65 Why is the ending satisfying for the main conflict?

Floppy finally wins the contest

Floppy clearly chooses peace over the role others want him to play

The children discover the newspaper

The city moves to his home
